

Appendix 4. Abundance and geographic distribution of molting scoters observed during aerial photographic surveys conducted between late July and mid-August 2012 and 2013 at south James Bay in the vicinity of Moosonee, Ontario, and Waskaganish and Eastmain, Quebec. Green circles represent summed abundances of birds in areas where numerous molting flocks (red circles) of scoters were concentrated. Extract from Badzinski et al. (2013).

